Key topics like supply chain resilience, automation, sustainability, and digital transformation were at the forefront of discussions.

Warehousing is the backbone of India's logistics infrastructure and must evolve in alignment with national priorities like PM Gati Shakti and the National Logistics Policy. To unlock true efficiency, we must consolidate our fragmented warehousing landscape, integrate it with multimodal logistics, and drive the transition toward green, resilient, and inclusive infrastructure. From renewable energy adoption to skill development and social diversity, the future of warehousing must be sustainable, tech-driven, and people-centric.

The India Warehousing Show serves as an important platform for advancing these objectives by facilitating constructive dialogue among stakeholders, promoting technology adoption, and showcasing best practices in the sector. The event contributes meaningfully towards realising the vision of an efficient, integrated, and future-ready logistics ecosystem in the country.
